He must now risk his life to retrieve the files that will save his schoolmate. When Fang and his best friend, Jiang, arrive at the school to enroll their friend, Xia, in sixth grade, they find her standing outside the classrooms, watching the aftermath of an inter-school brawl. Fang is appalled at what he sees, and is secretly impressed that his hero is also the school's principal, and steps up to help Xia. Meanwhile, Fang's friend Jiang begins to study the principal in order to ingratiate himself with him. While Fang remains at school, a band of boys hold up Xia's house, demanding her family's money. Despite the principal's attempts to negotiate with them, the gang continues to vandalize the house, eventually breaking in and taking Xia to a basement. Fang and Jiang soon learn that Xia is imprisoned in the cellar by her gang, but they rescue her, and Fang promises to take care of her. After their visit, Fang goes home and, recalling that school is about the future, begins to work on his algebra homework. Later, he is summoned to the principal's office and is told that Xia's family has been taken hostage by the thieves. After the police break up the robbers' attack on the house, Fang is told that he is to replace Jiang as the principal's bodyguard, and is taken to Jiang's house. As Fang spends time with his new home, he discovers that Xia has been writing a poem in his honor. The principal informs Fang that the girl he is guarding has been taken to a house in which he knows that, on that night, she and her family will be murdered by the same group of criminals. Fang agrees to help Jiang arrange for their escape. With their help, Xia escapes from her captors, and Fang carries her through the woods to safety. Jiang and Fang then gather evidence against the group. Jiang meets with the police, and the principal arranges for Fang to enter the house to destroy evidence against the criminals. Fang also has time to speak with Xia, telling her that he is in love with her. Fang encounters his attackers, and demands that they leave the house. The gang members refuse to do so, and the principal arrives. He says that he knew of the gang's plot, and that he prevented them from killing Xia. He then tells Fang to kill the gang members with his gun. Fang kills the leader, but is knocked out. He is rescued by the 82157476af
